Business Before Pleasure.

They were performers in the amateur theatricals. During the progress of the play at one time, while their presence was not needed on the stage, they sat together behind the scenes.
She looked beautiful indeed in an old fashioned gown and powdered hair, and he, in court costume of more than a century ago, was the beau ideal of a cavalier.For some time he had been very attentive to her, and, although people had frequently remarked upon his devotion, he had not come to the point of proposing, but as they sat behind the scenes he felt that an opportune moment had arrived."Marie," he said, "you may not have perceived my liking, but I cannot delay. I—I want to ask you to be—"Just then the prompter called the girl's name, but she never stirred."That's your cue," faltered the interrupted lover."Yes," she answered calmly enough, laying her head on his arm, "but never mind the cue. You seemed very earnest just now, and I want you to go on. What were you going to say?"— Pearson's Weekly.

A Wonderful Crab.

The Japanese spider crab is the most remarkable mimic of the crustacean group and is also the largest known crab. It has extraordinarily flexible planchers, while its numerous arms are studded with hooked hairs and spines.
By means of its pinchers it tears off small fragments of sponges and sea-weeds. After first putting these to its mouth, which contains a glutinous saliva, the crab places them on the surface of its limbs and body by sticking them fast with a rubbing movement.
By this method the crab succeeds in completely changing its appearance and rendering itself indistinguishable from the materials common to the bottom of the sea. While crawling along it seems as though a portion of the ocean bed was in motion, so close is the resemblance.At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol occasionally. Kodol for indigestion and Dyspepsia will rest the stomach by actually digesting the food itself.

NEWS. APER CHAFF.

When two hearts cease to beat as oneDon't think "Divorce!" and shiver, Till you tried a pill or two To exercise your liver.There is a story told about an ancestor of the hero of Ladysmith which shows that the Cochranes have always liked a dash of political as well as military adventure. When this Dundonald of the old days was Lord Cochrane he was a candidate in Honiton, and took the usual course of refusing to give bribes. As his opponent gave five pounds a head, Lord Cochrane suffered defeat. The latter, however, sent the Bellman round the town, announcing that all those who had voted for Lord Cochrane would receive ten guineas apiece if they called on his agent. In those pre-battled days, of course, it was known how each man voted, and the happy minority marched off to the agent, each getting his ten guineas. Naturally enough, the majority began to think they had made a mistake, and they resolved to rectify that mistake at the first possible moment. In due course an opportunity came; there was another election. Lord Cochrane stood again, and the voters, remembering his lavish methods, asked him no questions, but returned him with a roaring majority. Then they conveyed a delicate hint to the noble lord, asking what he proposed to give them for this distinguished service. "Not one farthing!" roared his lordship.
The unhappy men remonstrated that he had paid ten guineas a head to the minority at the previous election. A complacent grin brightened the face of the member as he gave this explanation: "The former gift was for their disinterested conduct in not taking the bribe of five pounds from the agent of my opponent. For me now to pay them would be a violation of my own previously expressed principles."—Argonaut.Father Hugh Lagan, of San Rafael, is an excellent raconteur. He relates that he was called recently to administer the last rites of the church to a dying sinner, who, like himself, was a native of the Emerald Isle."I have but one request to make, father," gasped the dying penitent."What is it, my son?" inquired the priest."That when I am dead, father, you will put me to rest in the Hebrew cemetery.""And what for?" asked Father La-gan."Because, your reverence," moaned the sick man, "it is the last place on the face of the globe where the devil would look for an Irishman."—Hotland's Magazine.A famous physician who was particularly expeditious in examining and prescribing for his patients was waited on by an army man, who was polished off in almost less than no time.
As the patient was leaving, he shook hands heartily with the doctor and said:"I am especially glad to meet you as I have often heard my father, Colonel F., speak of you."

"What!" exclaimed the physician.

"Are you Dick's son?"

"Certainly."

"My dear fellow," said the doctor, "filing that infernal prescription in fire and tell me what is the matter with you."—Exchange.When Robert Edson walked into his garden at his country place in Sag Harbor a few mornings ago he found his gardener with a small oil can limbering up the lawn mower."Where did you get that oil?" asked Edson.

"In the cellar, sir."

"We had no machine oil in the cellar."

"I know it, sir."

"Well, what are you using?"

"The oil from the Italian can I found there.""My Italian oil! My salad oil! Stop it, man. Stop it. I brought that all the way from Rome, and it cost me as much as your month's wages."— Exchange.Humor lightens everything, even war. Jefferson Davis, with all the weight of a losing cause on his shoulders, could yet spare time to appreciate and respond to an artless appeal. The incident is related by Captain Sutherland. Among the numerous papers received by the Confederate president, the following turned up one day: "Dear Mr. President: I want you to let Jeems C., of 4 of 5th South Carolina regiment, come home and get married. Jeems is willin'. I is willin'. I mammy is willin'.
Now when we are all willin' 'cept Jeems's capt'n. I think you might let up and let Jeems come. I'll make him go straight back when he's done got married and fight hard as ever.

SECRET MISSIVES.

Solutions That Produce Writing Invisible Until Treated.Ovid, in his "Art of Love," teaches young women to deceive their guardians by writing their love letters with new milk and to make the writing appear by rubbing coal dust over the paper. Any thick and viscous fluid, such as the glutinous and colorless juices of plants, aided by any colored powder, will answer the purpose equally well. A quill pen should be used.The most common method is to pen an epistle in ordinary ink, interlined with the invisible words, which doubtless has given rise to the expression, "reading between the lines." In order to discover the true meaning of a communication, letters written with a solution of gold, silver, copper, tin or mercury dissolved in aqua for-tis, or, simpler still, of iron or lead in vinegar, with water added until the liquid does not stain the white paper, will remain invisible for two or three months if kept in the dark, but on exposure for some hours to the open air will gradually acquire color or will do so instantly on being held before the fire. Each of these solutions gives its own peculiar color to the writing—gold a deep violet, silver slate, and lead and copper brown.There is a vast number of other solutions that become visible on ex-posure to heat or when having a heated iron passed over them. The explanation is that the matter is readily burned to a sort of charcoal. Simplest among these are lemon juice and milk, but the one that produces the best results is made by dissolving a scruple of sal ammoniac in two ounces of water.Several years ago Professor Bray-lants of the University of Louvain discovered a method in which no ink at all was required to convey a secret message. He laid several sheets of note paper on each other and wrote on the uppermost with a pen, then selected one of the under sheets on which no marks of the writing were visible. On exposing this sheet to the vapor of iodine for a few minutes it turned yellowish, and the writing appeared of a violet brown color. On further moistening the paper it turned blue, and the letters showed in violet lines. The explanation is that note paper contains starch, which under pressure becomes "hydrated" and turns blue in the iodine fumes. It is best to write on a hard surface, say a pane of glass. Sulphuric acid gas will make the writing disappear again, and it can be revived a second time.One of the simplest secret writings, however, to which Professor Gross of Germany calls attention as being used in prisons, is the following:Take a sheet of common writing paper, moisten it well with clear water and lay it on a hard, smooth surface, such as glass, tin, stone, etc. After removing carefully all air bubbles from the sheet place upon it another dry sheet of equal size and write upon it your communication with a sharp pointed pencil or a simple piece of pointed hard wood. Then destroy the dry paper upon which the writing has been done and allow the wet paper to dry by exposing it to the air, but not to the heat of fire or the flame of a lamp.
When dry not a trace of the writing will be visible. But on moistening the sheet again with clear water and holding it against the light the writing can be read in a clear transparency.
It disappears again after drying in the air and may be reproduced by moistening a great number of times.
Should the sheets be too much heated, however, the writing will disappear, never to reappear again.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TO ADVERTISERS

Do you know why the largest advertising agencies in the country use the Ardmoreite as a medium for reaching the people?The reason is because the first thing they do is to spend both time and money in ascertaining the bonafide circulation of a newspaper. In New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities agents have been sent here to investigate and they really know more about the circulation of the Ardmoreite than some of our own merchants—here in Ardmore.We tell you that the Ardmoreite has four or five times the circulation of any other paper published in Carter county—so if you are interested we invite you to make a careful investigation as to the truth of this statement.
It requires eight sacks for the daily and about double that number for the Weekly Ardmoreite each issue.Consult your best interests when placing an advertisement.The paid newspaper postage of the Ardmoreite exceeds that of all other newspapers in Carter county.We haven't a delinquent subscriber on our Weekly list.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually accompanied by prostatic glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 61 years old." Hoffman Drug Co., City Drug Store.
